

JAP WARSHIPS FLEE WITHOUT FIGHT

TALK BOOKED
IN SHIBE PARK
BY ROOSEVELTDEWEY TO DELIVER
ADDRESS TONIGHT
AT 8:30

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

President Roosevelt decided yesterday to make a major campaign speech in Philadelphia's Shibe Park the night of October 27, then told reporters he is going to hit on in coming speeches at what he called efforts by some people to stir up dissension over the proposed world security organization.

Meanwhile Governor Thomas E. Dewey prepared the final draft of a speech he is to deliver tonight before the New York Herald Tribune's forum on current events (9:30 p. m., EWT., Blue Network).

The president's next set campaign address is in New York Saturday night before the Foreign Policy association. He indicated he might begin firing then at those he said are trying to sow discord among the United Nations by emphasizing minor details instead of the main objectives of the peace organization. He did not identify whom he had in mind.

Health Pretty Good

Responding to another news conference question, he said he is in pretty good health. Another query seeking comment on part of a speech by Senator Mac (D.N.Y.) brought an inferential shot at Gov. Dewey. The president said he had learned not to comment on part of what somebody says. The administration has charged Dewey with using misleading quotations. To back up this charge the White House issued yesterday what it termed a "factual analysis" of Dewey's recent St. Louis speech.

While David L. Lawrence, Pennsylvania Democratic National committeeman and a presidential visitor, predicted to newsmen that Mr. Roosevelt would carry the keystone state next month by a greater margin than his 280,000 in 1940, Charles Edison, former Democratic governor of New Jersey, another White House caller, said he told the chief executive that New Jersey would go for Dewey by a substantial majority. Asked about this at his news conference, the president replied that Edison did not use the word "substantial" in talking to him.

Florida On Alert
For Big Hurricane

Havana, Oct. 17 (AP)—The National observatory announced at midnight that a hurricane which cut communications with the Isle of Pines early this afternoon was expected to strike Havana and the north coast of Cuba within a few hours.

On the basis of observations here we believe the center of the storm has turned northward and if it continues in this direction for some time the center will pass over or very near Havana. At this time the hurricane must be hitting the Isle of Pines, from which we have not received observations since 2:20 p. m.

The weather should worsen after midnight if there is no variation in movement, which we do not expect, with the full force of hurricane winds in the first hours of the morning. In any case there will be high seas all along the north coast of Cuba, and these will be much stronger around Havana.

Shortly after midnight communications with virtually the entire province of Pinar del Rio, forming the western end of Cuba, were reported cut—presumably due to a power failure caused by high winds. Only the community of Artemisa, 40 miles west of Havana, remained in contact with the capital.

BOLOGNA HELD
BY KESSELINGKey City In Italy Will
Not Be Given Up
Without Fight

BY LYNN HEINZELING

Rome, Oct. 17 (AP)—Nazi Field Marshal Albert Kesselring apparently has decided to fight for Bologna, and German troops have been shipped into position to make a bitter, all-out fight for the ancient city in the foothills of the Apennines. Allied headquarters announced today.

The American Fifth and British Eighth armies gathered a few more slippery hills into their lines, but Marshal Kesselring still was frustrating the months-long Allied endeavor to destroy his army and chase its remnants out of Italy.

The Fifth army, in small but important gains before Bologna, advanced past Lamina and Casa Di Bortignano along the highway from Florence, reaching a point nine miles from Bologna's outskirts. Further east American troops reached points north of the bulge in the Castel Del Rio-Castel San Pietro road and penetrated to the southern slopes of the hill town of Santa Anna and the village of Baccanello.

Penicillin Wins
1944 Nobel Prize

New York Oct. 17 (AP)—This year's Nobel Prize for medicine has been awarded to Sir Alexander Fleming, discoverer of penicillin, the Berne radio said tonight.

The Swiss transmission, monitored by NBC, quoted a London broadcast.

The raging winds knocked out the government radio in Nueva Gerona, principal city of the peaceful tourist islet south of Cuba, and there was no word from the population of less than 10,000 persons.

Centered at 10:30 p. m. a short distance north of the island, the hurricane was bearing down on the vicinity of Metropolitan Havana, Cuba's sprawling capital, which was told to expect the full brunt of the winds about 6 a. m. Wednesday.

The United States weather bureau said hurricane winds of 75 miles an hour or higher would be blowing by early Wednesday morning over the Florida Keys, where some 500 first World War veterans lost their lives in a terrific storm on Labor Day, 1935.

The Keys are a scant 90 miles across the Florida Straits from the northern coast of Cuba.

Boarded up and battened down, the city of Key West was braced for a full assault by nature on a rampage. The city, a military center, is on a small, flat island barely above sea level.

Extending a hurricane alert northward over the Florida peninsula to a line connecting Daytona Beach and Cedar Key, the weather bureau warned Floridians to expect gale winds tomorrow morning as far north as Vero Beach, on the east coast, and Fort Myers, on the west.

The bureau pointedly included the Okeechobee region, where the toll was about 2,000 deaths in 1928 when hurricane winds blew the water out of Shallow Lake Okeechobee and flooded the flat surrounding swampland. Since then, a protective dike has been erected.

Barometer pressures were falling over Western Cuba, where residents were braced for the blow, and winds were increasing steadily.

STRIKES AFFECT
NEARLY 13,000Production At Standstill
In Several Detroit
War Plants

Detroit, Oct. 17 (AP)—Striking members of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) voted tonight to end Detroit's major war plant stoppage, a dispute which company officials said had made 7,500 employees of Timken-Detroit Axle Co. plants idle since Saturday, halting production of axles for heavy-duty trucks.

In all, nearly 13,000 workers were idle today in labor disputes in the Detroit area while another 1,000 returned to their jobs.

Today's back-to-work vote was taken at a mass meeting of Timken employees. The strikers agreed to return to their jobs on their regular Wednesday shifts.

Earlier the strikers, who were protesting the disciplining of a union committeeman, had disregarded pleas of their union officials that they return to work. Many of them appeared at plant gates this morning but did not enter.

THREE-DAY-OLD
BABY IS STOLENNeighbor Claims Child
As Her Own As Police
Take Hand

Allegan, Oct. 17 (AP)—Mrs. Mabelle Waite, 44, was held without charge tonight in the disappearance and return of a three-day old baby son of Mrs. Dolores Velting, her 22-year-old neighbor.

Deputy Sheriff Forrest Reichenbach said the child was recovered in Mrs. Waite's home early Monday and that Mrs. Waite contended it was her own son, born recently.

Dr. C. A. Dickinson, coroner, reported that Kalamazoo specialists after examinations and X-rays, showed it was impossible for Mrs. Waite to have given birth to a child recently.

Deputy Reichenbach said Mrs. Waite was in attendance when Mrs. Velting gave birth to the child Sunday.

Shortly after the baby's birth Sunday night, the officers were told by an attendant in the home that Mrs. Waite left for her own home, explaining she expected to be confined herself in a few hours. The attendant, according to deputies, said she noticed Mrs. Waite carrying a bundle as she departed.

The attendant became alarmed because she could not find the newly-born Velting child and called Dr. D. O. Hudnutt, of Plainwell, who summoned state police and sheriff's officers.

The officers, convinced that the child in the Waite home which they discovered, belong to Mrs. Velting, restored it to the latter and took Mrs. Waite in custody. The husbands of both women are in the armed forces. Deputies said they were awaiting the return of Acting Prosecutor Harry Pell before determining the course of action, if any, against Mrs. Waite.

Male Form Will Get More Frills

Washington, Oct. 17 (AP)—More frills in wartime housing and in men's clothing will be permitted under relaxations of war production board restrictions announced today.

The greater freedom of design is extended to men's tops by VFB. Belted coats, patch pockets, pleated trousers—will be permitted to reappear by late spring or early summer.

The building modifications apply only to construction for essential war workers in congested areas, urgently-needed housing for returning veterans and individual hardship cases. General provisions requiring the conservation of lumber and other materials were retained.

ALLIED FORCE
SPARS ALONG
85-MILE LINEBRITISH IN VENRAY
NEAR GERMAN BORDER

BY HOWARD COWAN

London, Wednesday, Oct. 18. (AP)—The first day without a German counter-attack since the Nazi line was breached at Aachen has passed and the German defenders of the city still are virtually sealed off from their supporting forces and supplies.

Although officers at supreme Allied headquarters would not confirm the view, it was considered possible that the high command had given up hope of saving Aachen or that the furious Allied air attacks on Cologne and Duisburg had made German rescue attempts impossible.

Powerful American and British forces sparred warily with the enemy yesterday all along the 85-mile battle line paralleling the Dutch-German border from Aachen in Germany to Arnhem in Holland.

Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' American First army probed cautiously north and northeast of Aachen, where the Nazis, repelled in five furious attempts to break into the encircled city of Aachen in recent days, had rolled up a heavy concentration of tanks and mobile guns.

Americans On Flank

British Second army troops fought through the streets to the center of the Dutch highway town of Venray, eight miles from the German frontier, and pushed an armored column three miles south and cut the Venray-Duorne road.

American armor was disclosed to be in position on the British right flank, but was not yet reported to have been hurled into action.

At nightfall British Tommies with bayonets and hand grenades were reported fighting halfway through Venray, with the Germans selling their lives fanatically to defend every house and shop building. Other British forces who threw a bridgehead across a canal five miles southwest of Venray beat off violent German attempts to crush the lodgment, a field dispatch said.

Monroe, Mich., Oct. 17 (AP)—George Wellman, 57, was crushed to death in his automobile today as it was dragged 200 feet beneath the wheels of the caboose of a Toledo & Shore Line Railroad freight train near the river Raisin Paper Co.'s plant.

It took more than two hours to remove his body from the wrecked car.

Wellman, an employee of the Raisin Paper Company since 1926, was believed to have backed his car into the path of the freight in attempting to park it in a narrow driveway beside the tracks.

REWARD FOR GEMS

Jackson, Mich., Oct. 17 (AP)—Kantlehner's, Inc., offered a $2,000 reward today for the return of $20,000 worth of gems, jewelry and watches stolen during a hold-up of the company's store Sept. 30. Three men are awaiting court hearings on robbery armed charges resulting from the hold-up.

Santa Claus For Orphans In France

A U. S. Bomber Base in England, Oct. 17 (AP)—The men of this Eighth Air Force station are saving their candy and chewing gum rations and are writing home for more Christmas packages with which to load a B-17 bomber for a New Year's Day Santa Claus run to a city in France.

January 1 is France's traditional gift day.

The idea came from Sgt. Oscar Pearce of Linwood, Mass., and Col. Dale O. Smith of Reno, Nev., endorsed it. Besides candy, the gift-bearing bomber will take along clothes and toys for French orphans and bombed-out children.

The Roving Reporter

By ERNIE PYLE

Editor's Note: In the following which is No. 31 of a series of Ernie Pyle war dispatches that we are reprinting during his leave of absence, Ernie gives a classic description of tired foot soldiers.

In the Front Lines before Mauteur, May, 1943—We're now with an infantry outfit that has battled ceaselessly for four days and nights.

This northern warfare has been in the mountains. You don't ride much any more. It is walking and crawling country. The mountains aren't big, but they are constant. They are largely treeless. They are easy to defend and bitter to take. But we are taking them.

The Germans lie on the back slope of every ridge, deeply dug into foxholes. In front of them the fields and pastures are hideous with thousands of hidden mines. The forward slopes are left open, untenanted, and if the Americans tried to scale these slopes they would be murdered wholesale in an inferno of machine-gun crossfire plus mortars and grenades.

Consequently we don't do it that way. We have fallen back to the old warfare of first pulverizing the enemy with artillery, then sweeping around the ends of the hill with infantry and taking them from the sides and behind.

I've written before how the big guns crack and roar almost constantly throughout the day and night. They lay a screen ahead of our troops. By magnificent shooting they drop shells on the back slopes. By means of shells timed to burst in the air a few feet from the ground, they get the Germans even in their foxholes. Our troops have found that the Germans dig foxholes down and then under trying to get cover from the shell.

U.S. Fleet Too
Much For Nips

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Oct. 17. (AP)—Sustained action by carrier-based planes against the Philippines and a new landing in the western Carolines were reported tonight in a communique of Adm. Chester W. Nimitz.

The carrier plane attacks extended operations which have been in progress against Japan's inner defense ring since Oct. 8 and are meshed with land-based strikes by Gen. Douglas MacArthur who reported a fighter sweep over Mindanao.

Landing Kept Secret

The new landing made last September, but kept secret until today, was achieved without opposition on Ulithi atoll in the western Caroline group. Eighty-first division army troops of the same group which aided in the invasion of the southern Palaus, went ashore on Ulithi Sept. 20 and 21.

Ulithi is 100 miles east of Yap and is northeast of Palau. It has one of the best harbors in the western Pacific.

The landings were kept secret because the Japanese possibly were unaware of them until recently.

Advance patrols landed on Passaran and Mangelang Islands in the Ulithi group on both sides of the main entrance to Ulithi lagoon Sept. 20.

The next day troops occupied the four islets of Mogmog, Potengeras, Asor and Sorlan.

Radio Silence Continues

Ulithi also is known as the Mecklenzie Islands. They roughly are half way between American-occupied southern Palau and Guam.

Ulithi was used by the Japanese as a minor naval base and for sea-plane operations earlier in the war. Lack of opposition was somewhat surprising in view of the Japanese fanatical defense elsewhere.

The communique reference of action against the Philippines was limited to a single sentence. The paucity of reports was believed due to the necessity for long periods of radio silence while the fleet is in action.

STATE COMBATS SCALP DISEASE

Segregation Advised For Children Infected
With Ringworm

Lansing, Oct. 17 (AP)—Health officials from 10 counties and five large cities of Michigan outlined plans today for a concerted effort to control an outbreak of a so-called ringworm fungus disease of the scalp.

Dr. William Dekleine, state health commissioner, said the group approved an eight-point program of recommendations for control, including a statement that "the best" known method of treatment is removal of the hair and hair roots by X-ray, and application of "a suitable fungicide."

The commissioner emphasized in the statement that the disease is not "dangerous" and causes no complications "except in a few very severe cases it may result in bald spots."

The group recommended that children with "massive scalp infections" be kept from school, but said those with "minor or moderate infections" may remain in school, provided they are under competent medical care.

"We advise," the group said, "that all children while in school or other public places, whether inspected or not, wear caps made of cloth, paper or other material that can be burned or cleaned daily. Segregation of children with ringworm within the school may be an additional safeguard."

RUSSIANS AIM AT HEART OF
EAST PRUSSIAGERMANY ALARMED
BY NEW THRUSTS
AT BORDER

BY W. W. HERCHER

London, Oct. 17 (AP)—A tremendous new Russian offensive aimed straight west towards the heart of East Prussia was announced today by alarmed German broadcasters who said Gen. Ivan D. Cherniakhovsky's Third White Russian army was on the march toward Interburg, 37 miles from the border.

The German radio said the new Red army attack was along a 25-mile front on both sides of the Lithuanian town of Vilkaviskis and declared it was backed by forests of artillery and spearheaded by low-flying Stormovik planes.

Moscow was silent concerning the German reports, but the assault on East Prussia was the logical next step in the autumn campaign.

Some Russian forces last week reached the East Prussian border at points a dozen miles northwest of Vilkaviskis, which is 12 miles east of the frontier. They had stood at Vilkaviskis itself for more than two months while the cleanup of the Baltic states was in progress.

Nazi Lines Penetrated

The Germans acknowledged that the Russians had reached the border at one unspecified point in the offensive which they said began Monday. The apparent first important goal was Interburg, less than two-score miles ahead of the driving Russians.

German radio commentators said the Russians had penetrated the Nazi lines at several places and said stubborn fighting was in progress for paths through the fortifications and earthworks so hastily thrown up by the old men, women and children of East Prussia during the past few months.

Gumbinnen, about two-thirds of the way along the main highway from Vilkaviskis to Interburg, was heavily bombed by the Russians Monday night, the Germans said.

This drive, under one of the Soviet Union's youngest and most brilliant generals, might develop into the major campaign against East Prussia. The principal difficulty apparently was the crossing of the many little streams that flow through that low region.

Two other strong offensives also were beating against the outer defenses of the German stronghold, however. The only one Moscow has announced was on the northern border along the Niemen river line. It already had approached within artillery range of the East Prussian border stronghold of Tilsit.

around Manila as among the latest targets).

New American carrier-based plane attacks on the northern Philippines were reported by radio Tokyo today on the heels of Adm. Chester W. Nimitz' statement that Nippon warships retired without a fight after they sighted the U. S. task force armada off Formosa.

Tokyo said the latest hits in the Philippines centered on Clark Field, pre-war American air base 40 miles from Manila, and on the port of Legaspi, southern Luzon. The Japanese said the raiders were repulsed.

Showdown Avoided
The Japanese continued to claim a great sea victory over the American task force that has been sending heavy waves of planes against Formosa. But Nimitz declared "On discovering our fighting strength unimpaired, they (Japanese warships) avoided action and have withdrawn toward their bases."

Nimitz reported only two American surface ships damaged against Japanese claims of up to 52 sunk or damaged.

One look at the power packed by the mighty force of warships that is Adm. William F. Halsey's Third fleet convinced the enemy no change was prudent in its policy of avoiding a showdown fight at sea.

For days the Tokyo radio had blared to the world that "brilliant war results" had been achieved by Nipponese naval and air forces, that in the end Halsey's fleet "will have vanished from the seas."

Propaganda Swallowed
Japanese newspapers, swallowing this propaganda smoothly, heralded the event to the homeland under such headlines as "Desperately fleeing enemy warships completely destroyed."

Spiking enemy broadcasts that 40 to 52 American warships had been sunk or damaged, Nimitz said:

"There has been no damage of consequence to our battleships or carriers. However, two medium sized ships were hit by aircraft torpedoes and are retiring from the area. Fortunately, the personnel casualties in these two ships were small."

This report covered the fighting, now in its second week, between American carrier planes and shore-based enemy aircraft over the Ryukus Islands, Formosa and Luzon in the Philippines.

War correspondents at headquarters interpreted "medium sized ships" as referring to cruisers or destroyers.

The carrier task forces commanded by Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher, Nimitz announced, destroyed 160 enemy planes October to visit relatives and friends for a week.

Mrs. William Dore and children spent Tuesday in Marquette on business.

Mrs. Joseph Saul has returned home after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brebner in Escanaba for a few days.

Lake Odessa Youth
Is Ninth Fatality
Of Hunting Season

(By The Associated Press)

The toll from Michigan's small game hunting season rose to nine last (Tuesday) night with the death of Eugene Max Smith, 16-year-old Lake Odessa high school football player.

The boy's companion, Richard Pierce, also 16, told sheriff's deputies that Eugene's gun discharged in his own hands as the two were preparing to sit down on a low wall to rest after hunting.

The charge struck the boy in the head, bringing instant death.

John Galkins, 27, of Ionia, suffered serious head wounds while hunting with 17-year-old George Moorman on the Grand river flats near Ionia. Police Chief Harry Lyle of Ionia said the two were hunting near the city limits when Moorman's gun discharged.

Eight hunting deaths, and a number of non-fatal mishaps, had previously been reported.

Growers Compete For $600 Prize Money At County Potato Show

EXHIBIT SPUDS HERE SATURDAY

Evening Program Will Be Held In Cornell
Twp. Hall

Delta county potato growers Saturday will gather in Escanaba for the annual Delta county Potato Show, in which winners in the table stock and certified seed contests will be awarded $600 in prize money by the Escanaba Potato Boosters association.

Altogether about 80 samples of the best potatoes in the county are expected to be exhibited at the county Potato Show, which precedes the U. P. Potato Show to be held in Escanaba October 24-26.

E. A. Wenner, county agricultural agent, yesterday said that samples of potatoes were being received at the fair grounds. From there on Friday they will be removed to the former Servicemen's Center building in the 600 block, Ludington street, where the samples will be exhibited Friday and Saturday.

The program will get underway at 10 a. m. Saturday, when between that hour and noon there will be a rating contest and review of exhibits.

Starting at 1:30 o'clock Saturday at the courthouse there will be an afternoon educational program, with Clayton Ford of Cornell as chairman. The program will include remarks by Wenner; potato discussion by D. L. Clannahan, Marquette, extension farm crops specialist.

E. J. Wheeler of Michigan State college potato office will speak on "Proper Utilization of Nitrogen in a Potato Soil", and Fred Hbst, Cadillac, manager of the Michigan Potato Growers Exchange, will speak on "What Other States Are Doing in Packaging and Grading Their Potato Crop."

Starting Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at the Cornell township hall there will be a social program, with J. J. Bartella chairman. At this event the results of the potato grading contest will be announced by J. G. Wells, Jr., county agent leader.

The Delta county Potato Show queen will be selected and crowned by the committee composed of Harry Gruber, chairman, Mrs. Thaxter Shaw and Mrs. Willa Teasley.

Potato Booster contest winners in the table stock and certified seed classifications will be announced by Clannahan at the evening meeting. A total of $600 in prize money will be awarded as follows:

Table stock contest: First prize, $75, second $50, third $25, fourth $20, fifth $15; and $10 each for those placing from fifth to 15th; and $5 each for those placing 16th to 31st, or a total of $370.

Certified seed contest: $75 first, $50 second, $25 third, $20 fourth, $15 fifth; $10 for sixth and seventh; and $5 for those placing eighth to 13th. The total in the certified seed contest is $230.

There are five contestants from five townships in the county for the title of Delta county Potato Show queen. They are:

Miss Viola Dumas, Ford River township; Miss Jeanette DeBacker, Maple Ridge township; Miss Leona Skroblak, Bark River township; Miss Betty Buckland, Cornell township; Miss Emma Falkies, Baldwin township.

The young women chosen as Delta county Potato Show queen will compete next week for the title of Upper Peninsula queen at the Potato Show to be held in Escanaba.

The evening program Saturday will close with dancing to the music of Joe Butryn and his band.

HONOR ROLL—Escanaba's honor roll is filled with the names of men who are serving their country. At the time the panel was designed it was planned to construct it plenty large enough to hold the names of every man from the city called to the colors.

When the board was set up about a year ago it appeared extremely huge, and the eight by 30 foot name panel looked endless. On Memorial day of this year, when the roll was dedicated with appropriate ceremonies, the board contained approximately 1,000 names, and the empty space still looked large enough.

Now, however, only one year after construction, the panel is filled with slightly more than 1,500 names, and the end is not yet in sight. Plans now are being completed to enlarge the capacity of the roll by the addition of 30 inch wide wings to be placed at an angle on each side of the roll.

This new space will allow for inscribing about 360 names more.

The honor roll is intended for the names of Escanaba city young men who have been called to war, but there is a scattering of names of men from outside the city limits.

Gold stars are appearing on the roll in increasing numbers, a constant reminder to the passing throng that many of those who went away will not come back. The number who have given their lives, however, cannot be indicated accurately on the board since some relatives still cling to the hope, in spite of official war department notification, that their son, or brother, or husband, is alive, and object to the gold star. The record being kept by the Press news department, shows that to date 24 Escanaba men have been killed in action. An additional two died in the service and five have been killed in non combat.

Here's How To Winterize Your Aging Old Car

BY DAVID J. WILKIE
A. P. Automotive Editor
(Advance) Detroit, Oct. 7 (P)—

Upwards of 18,000,000 of the Nation's passenger automobiles will be from five to 10 years old as they enter the fourth winter of wartime driving, and according to industry experts will require more thorough servicing than ever if they are to be retained in operation.

And because service stations even without the added burdens of winter problems have been taxed to capacity, the heads of service operations for the various car manufacturers are urging motorists to "winterize" their cars now. They emphasize, incidentally, that "winterizing" means more than merely putting a gallon or two of anti-freeze in the cooling system.

Thomas H. Stambaugh, director of National Service Operations of the Hudson Motor Car company, covers the winterizing essentials from radiator to windshield wiper in a few simple suggestions. He says:

1. An engine tune-up will pay for itself in gasoline saving.
2. When your car is serviced for winter by changing to lighter engine oil and lighter gear greases also have brakes, steering gear, wheel alignment and tires checked.

3. Before you have anti-freeze placed in your radiator, be sure that the rubber hose connections, the fan belt and the thermostat are checked and the radiator cleaned.

4. Battery cables and wiring in older automobiles are certain to be slightly deteriorated. Many need replacing to prevent electrical losses. Old spark plugs or carbon-encrusted ones waste gasoline.

5. Your car may need a new battery. A test will tell. Remember that the lower the temperature the less power your battery has.

6. Leaking exhaust pipes may be dangerous as carbon monoxide gas may enter closed cars through floors and prove fatal.

7. Adjustment of carburetors for winter driving saves gasoline. Fuel pump screens should be cleaned. Air cleaners need frequent attention. Removal of the engine plan to allow a thorough cleaning also is recommended.

8. Steel and snow will give windshield wipers heavier work to do. Have them checked before they at a time when you need them most.

Too much emphasis cannot be placed upon the fact that every functioning part of the automobile is subjected to greater strain during the months, the industry experts say. The important thing, they add, is not to plan to have all winter servicing operations performed, but to get them done before the first sub-freezing weather arrives.

Youth Bound Over To Circuit Court

Joseph Kolich, 17, of 1517 North 16th street, waived preliminary examination in Justice Henry Ranguette's court yesterday when arraigned on a charge of breaking and entering in the night time, and was bound over to circuit court under $1,000 bond. He was remanded to jail pending arrangements to raise bond.

Escanaba police arrested Kolich and a 15-year-old Escanaba boy at 9:45 p. m. Monday in Gafner's market, 1130 Stephenson avenue. They had entered the market by crawling through the bars on a rear window. Police reported the night patrolman saw the youths inside the market and their arrest followed.

The 15-year-old boy was turned over to juvenile court authorities for investigation. He was recently on probation from a term in the State Industrial School in Lower Michigan.

A Great Record

REVELATION by Lieut. General Somervill, commander of the United States Army Service forces, that in the first 109 days after the invasion of France, two and a half million men, more than a half million vehicles of war and 17,000,000 ship tons of supplies, were delivered on the invasion shores, tells not only the story of this nation's tremendous power, but the high efficiency of those directing our fighting forces, in contrast to the bungling and confusion in our government, itself, at Washington. The power of American arms, it must now be concluded, will win World War II not because of governmental aid, but in spite of our governmental bungling.

To move men, munitions and supplies in such astronomical amounts, as those revealed by Lieut. Gen. Somervill before the annual forum of the New York Herald Tribune, on Monday night, tells only a part of the story of the power being applied by this nation to win the war. Gen. Somervill's figures apply only to the invasion front in France. It does not include the tremendous force of ships, men, munitions and supplies, now being assembled for the final drive against Japan in the Pacific, nor does it include the American forces and supplies now engaged in driving the Germans out of Italy.

In the shortest period in all the history of nations the United States has assembled the greatest fully equipped fighting force ever gathered by any nation, and at the same time has assembled greater facilities for getting men, munitions and supplies to all the far flung battle fronts of the world, than was ever before provided by any nation.

America's accomplishments are the wonder of the world today. They are the accomplishments of men and women who know little and care less about the internal politics of this nation, but who have gone ahead to build a record that is the envy and the wonder of the world, in spite of governmental dissention and bungling confusion at home.

We Want Facts

A LOT of the butter the American public is not getting today, for their own and public tables, will be released to the hospitals of the nation, the War Food administration, at Washington has announced.

The American public is not complaining too much about their inability to buy a commodity that is considered a necessity in peace times and they will not complain as long as they can be assured that their butter supply is going into the menus of our fighting forces or is earmarked for other emergency use.

Official announcement from Washington that five million pounds of butter, set aside for government war agencies, is to be released for use in hospitals throughout the nation, will make all patriotic citizens content to go butterless as long as may be necessary.

The American public has proven itself willing and eager to make every necessary sacrifice as an aid to winning the war, but because of earlier experiences they want, today, to be sure that some of the numberless governmental agencies at Washington are not imposing needless restrictions, for the sole purpose of making us "war minded."

America is "war minded" to a degree that experience has proven is not even suspected by some Washington bureaucrats. That's the reason we want to know the true facts about everything that concerns the American public.

We can be led but we won't be driven.

It's Open

THE final opening of the Wells-Escanaba highway, through the ore dock area, will be recognized as removal of another of those governmental irritants that for many months has had little excuse for existence.

When dock construction work was in progress, two years ago, there was ample excuse for the closing of one of the busiest highways adjacent to Escanaba. The defining of that section as a vital defense area was accepted by the public without remonstrance, because the step was recognized as a necessary one. Even when construction work ceased one of the original reasons for maintaining vigilance in the dock area remained, for there still existed danger of attack by enemy agents. But when the tide of World War II changed and the whole nation was privileged to lift many war time restrictions, the Escanaba-Wells road remained closed for many months, forcing traffic to use a round about detour as a means of traffic communication between Escanaba and its principal suburb.

Without previous notice the long banned highway was suddenly thrown open to the public on Sunday and is again in general use.

Citizens of Delta county will now be privileged, for the first time in two years, to view the scene of our own governmental spending orgy, now a closed chapter in history, but an activity that will long live in the memory of this community.

Great Americans, Great Men

FOR all the dissimilarity of their careers, Alfred E. Smith and Wendell Willkie were essentially alike—great and admirable men whose greatness was intrinsically and inescapably American.

Both won the highest honor that their parties could bestow in spite of handicaps of background which would have been fatal to the ambitions of lesser men. Both of them failed to win the presidency, and in each case the failure was due in a large part to their refusal to trade honest and honorable convictions for vote-winning compromises.

Al Smith learned his politics in the rough-and-tumble environment of a decidedly unsavory political machine. Wendell Willkie was innocent of any political experience when he was swept dramatically from a successful but unspectacular private life to the presidential nomination. It was easy for opponents to taunt them with shouts of "Tammany" and "Wall Street." It was impossible to smirch their characters or their motives.

A great liberal who didn't prate about it, Al Smith served as New York's governor in a day when the country's chief concern was with domestic affairs. It was a day of complacency, bigotry and hypocrisy, and Mr. Smith opposed all of them. He fought for social and governmental improvements when it would have been easier to maintain the status quo of general prosperity. He was devoutly and proudly Catholic. He thought the Eighteenth Amendment unfair, unworkable and un-American, and said so.

This was in 1928, when the Klan was still alive, when office holders drank wet and voted dry, when the Anti-Saloon League was a great power in American politics. Al Smith's beliefs cost him the presidency, but not his integrity.

Wendell Willkie came upon the scene at a time of world war and world thought. His political idealism crossed party lines, and his burning convictions would not be curbed to the professional politicians' bidding.

Mr. Willkie judged a man by his words and deeds, not by his party. He invited a similar judgment. He sought to convince, not to compromise. And his beliefs cost him not only the presidency but, later, his party's nomination. Perhaps this last disappointment hastened his death. But it was the disappointment not of an ambitious man, but of a man who carried his beliefs into battle with those who opposed them most strongly, and fought for them with noble courage.

Al Smith and Wendell Willkie rose to the heights in the approved American manner, one from New York's tenement district, the other from a small town of rural Indiana. Both were men of great personal charm and compelling character. Both spoke unaffectedly the regional speech of their beginnings, which shocked the purists. But their words excited the admiration of millions, even when they did not win agreement. For they were the words of wise and compassionate minds, brilliantly informed, fiercely sincere.

The country's loss in the passing of either of these men would be heavy at any time. But the death of both, particularly at this time, is grievously so. We need them in the days to come for their service as a sort of public conscience, in or out of office. For we knew that when they spoke it was always from the heart, never from expedience. And we knew that we would do well to listen and to weigh their words.

Danger Spot

SINCE the war began, housewives have come out of the kitchen to climb shipyard scaffolds with riveting machine and welding torch. They have worked with flashing knives and whirling saws, awesome cranes, presses and punches.

Now comes a responsible home economist with the declaration that the kitchen is "one of the most hazardous spots on earth." Such things as kerosene, naphtha, lye and abrasives she calls "ferocious."

Probably she is right. Accident figures have long bolstered her dire warnings. Now it may be hoped that experience in factories, where hazards are respected and guarded against, will impel the war-working housewife to plan better and proceed more cautiously in her peacetime kitchen.

But there is also the possibility that, if the home economist's words get circulated sufficiently, no one will be able to coax feminine factory workers into booby-trapped kitchens again.

NEW RAIL COMFORTS

(Marquette Mining Journal)
The railroads will face intensified competition from the airlines and the highway carriers after the war. They are preparing to meet it in the only way it can be met, by improved service and increased comfort.

Car designers are constantly at work on the comfort angle of the problem. The list of new-style cars promised for the postwar period steadily lengthens. Pullmans will be all room-type, providing complete privacy. Commuter cars for the short runs will be high-capacity streamlined models. Deluxe lounge and bar and observation cars will be placed on an increasing number of trains.

The Pullman Car company announces plans for new coaches offering overnight passengers—and weary daytime travelers—what it described as chaise-lounge sleeping comfort. The chaise-lounge coaches will have reclining seats with window drapes that can become night curtains. Like other new types of passenger cars,

The Round Table

BY RAYMOND MOLEY

The Commander-in-Chief argument for a Fourth Term is not going well. New Dealers are using it less and less for the simple reason that the public has refused to accept it. It just didn't make sense.

It was a bold venture in political trickery, however, and was intended to convey the idea that the President was Commander-in-Chief of all of us, rather than the Commander of the Army and Navy alone. The Constitution, of course, says that "the President shall be Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy of the United States."

When the Constitution was written, no one hinted at the interpretation that Mr. Roosevelt has delicately implied. In any case, there was little discussion of the subject in the Constitutional Convention in 1787, and what there was concerned the question whether the President could put on a uniform and direct armies in the field. This question was left open.

Washington, as President, actually did take the field for a month in the Whiskey Rebellion. But Washington was a real soldier in his own right.

Lincoln, during the first two years of the Civil War, occasionally prodded a reluctant general with an order. His interferences, however, were not successful and, when he found Grant, he gave him full power.

Wilson was a strict constitutionalist. He permitted Marsh and Pershing to do all the master-minding. And at this moment it is quite clear that Marshall and King are in charge, and both the Army and Navy would bitterly resent White House interference.

The evidence about 1787 clearly shows that there was great fear of military dictatorship. Hence, it is a fair inference that the President was given command over the generals in order to make certain that the military should always be under civilian control. This very important protection falls to the ground if the President assumes a military title in his relations with the civil population.

The President's real function is to provide a means of coordinating diplomatic action with military and naval action. That was precisely the function of the President in the events which preceded Pearl Harbor, although the facts available indicate that the job of coordination was not well done. His further function is to coordinate the nation's industrial and agricultural facilities with military needs. That, too, has been badly handled.

For these and many other reasons, the Commander-in-Chief argument may, before the campaign is over, be an argument for Dewey, rather than for his opponent. It never had real substance as a reason for not changing horses and now it may prove, on the contrary, to be a persuasive reason for a change.

These and other new cars will not, in strict interpretation, bring in a new rail era. The revolution in design and construction began a decade ago. It was in 1934 that the first light and fast stainless-steel articulated streamliners proved the feasibility—and the attraction—of new cruising speeds and new riding comfort.

During the next years the roomette sleepers and the new luxurious club cars appeared. The war, monopolizing necessary materials, merely delayed a movement already well under way.

"It's Better Than Nothing, Isn't It?"

Good Morning!

By The Bugler

SHE DENIES IT—You will recall some months back that Edward Kelley Ryan, formerly of Escanaba, and more recently with the Red Cross in India, wrote rather critically of movie actress Anna Sheridan and his letter was printed in part in this column.

It was his contention that Miss Sheridan complained about the climate—a n d refused gracefully to turn out for an extra show for a group of men who did not see her before.

Miss Sheridan, still more recently, has been named by servicemen's newspapers as one of a group of players who shirked their jobs in the tough China-Burma-India area. This has been denied by all of the actors and actresses named, including Miss Sheridan, who says she doesn't want to go back, but declares she and her troupe gave their best when they were there.

Miss Sheridan, as reported by Mr. Ryan, was stunning, stubborn and tired of the heat. She told him she didn't care to make an impromptu appearance because she thought the boys might be disappointed at a Sheridan minus the glamor of a proper stage setting.

This same India climate of which Miss Sheridan complained, and which Mr. Ryan himself found no words sufficiently strong to describe, may be the cause of Mr. Ryan's illness, which has forced him to leave India and return to the United States. While details are lacking, reports are that his many long months of service for the American Red Cross in India ended recently, and that he was flown back to this country seriously ill.

VICTORY CUKES—There never has been a time when garden vegetables didn't occasionally twist themselves into odd shapes, but when this occurs in wartime there seems to be special significance—especially when they take the form of a V, the world-wide symbol for victory over the enemy.

On the Joseph Chouinard farm at Newhall they grew not one of these "Victory cucumbers" but three of them this season. These are in reality twin cukes, joined at the bottom to form a V shape. The first and largest set was found in early September, the other two sets were found recently in the last picking.

The Bugler, being allergic to fresh cucumbers, does not care particularly what shape they grow, so long as they are not included in his diet. Like many people, he carefully scrutinizes the mixed salads and pushes the cucumbers over to the side, meanwhile partaking heartily of the other greens.

As pickles, however, cucumbers seem to lose their ability to upset a stomach. Perhaps it's the salt and vinegar that does the trick. At any rate, dills, bread and butter pickles, chunk pickles, cherry dills, and even as "slippery Jims" when ripe, are welcomed by most folks. The Bugler draws the line at kosher dills—but some like garlic in anything.

ENTERTAINMENT PLUS—When Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Huntington returned to Escanaba recently for a week's visit they were entertained by their friends in a novel manner. You will recall that Stan was Red Buck district executive for the Boy Scouts of America, left Escanaba about a year ago to take a similar position at Park Ridge, Illinois.

One reason for the vacation was Stan's hayfever, which gets him down every fall. The Michigan climate helps, however, and to escape the tail end of the hayfever season in Illinois he and Mrs. Huntington decided Escanaba would be a good place to spend a STILL AROUND—As the season for partridge and prairie chicken draws to a close in the Upper Peninsula, you will hear many hunters say the birds are alarmingly scarce. When the season ends Friday it will be safe to predict that fewer birds have been taken this year than in many years past.

Hunters in the Escanaba area are convinced that partridge are not extinct by any means, however. For although a comparatively few have been taken, reports are that a considerable number have been seen. Which, means, of course, that once the present cycle of scarcity is weathered the number of birds will increase just as they have in past years.

The conservation department of officers locally see partridge this year at the bottom of the cycle, and anticipate they will increase next year slightly, and more in the years to come until the top of the cycle is reached again.

It may surprise some hunters to find that last year there were far more pheasant killed in Michigan than partridge. If they looked on the back of their hunting license they would find the figures: 290,117 partridge, 1,368,639 pheasant. And those pheasant were all in Lower Michigan.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Washington—Underground observers coming out of Germany have reported that the Nazis already have begun the systematic elimination of the vast army of slave labor imported from Russia, France, Czechoslovakia and various occupied countries to work for Hitler.

Details of the story are so ghastly that they hardly can be believed. Yet the accuracy of the observers has stood up in the past; also the wholesale slaughter methods of the Germans at Lublin is already a matter of official record.

It is estimated that the imported slave labor inside Germany totals about 10,000,000. Either because Hitler fears their sabotage and rebellion, or else because they are a drain on Germany's food resources, machinery has been devised to kill them off. The number killed so far is estimated at around 1,500,000, though this is a very rough estimate. Absolutely definite, however, is the fact that mass execution depots, such as that at Lublin, already are set up in various parts of Germany. These have been witnessed.

The Lublin execution depot consisted of large chambers for the administration of lethal gas to several hundred persons at a time. Afterward, the bodies were systematically stripped, their jewelry, shoes, clothes sorted out and handled by a quartermaster store.

Reason for this cold-blooded system of mass executions is explained as follows by underground observers who have come out of Germany: Originally, Storm Troopers were given a list of 15 to 20 persons and told to shoot them with their revolvers in the night. Sometimes this included whole families with children. So not even the S. S. men could take it. They suffered nervous collapses, had to be sent to sanitariums.

As a result, the mass execution system was worked out at Lublin, and now at other places. It takes only a few men to handle the lethal chambers, and enough personnel can be found to perform this gruesome work without becoming insane.

—KLEBERG MONEY AIDS O'DANIEL—

Last summer, Congressman Dick Kleberg of Texas, partner owner of the largest ranch in the world, was exposed as having put three teen-old boys on the Federal payroll, who later kicked back part of their salary to Kleberg's office.

The Congressman's excuse was that he needed funds to pay his office expenses and balance his budget.

However, a Senate investigator, just returned from Texas, has discovered that although three youngsters were forced to kick back part of their salary, Kleberg's King ranch could afford to contribute a total of $2,500 to Senator Pappy O'Daniel's hate-Roosevelt campaign.

Senator O'Daniel boasts that the money for his radio and his newspaper comes from the little people of the state, sent to the "Common Citizens Radio Committee." However, unless the Kleberg ranch could be called "little people," there weren't many little people on the list. The bulk of O'Daniel's money came from Senator Ed Moore of Oklahoma and big oil man H. R. Cullen. Each kicked in the neat sum of $25,000.

—EMBARGO VIOLATION—

Sometimes it is better to let sleeping dogs lie. That's what William C. Connelly of Shelby, Ohio, found out when James Martin of the Department of Justice read to the Kilgore Committee a letter from the New York agent of the Japanese trading company, Mitsubishi, in which the agent told his home office that among American firms willing to ship aircraft parts to Japan after the moral embargo of June, 1938, was the Ohio Seamless Tube Co., of Shelby, O.

Following this, President Connelly, of the Seamless Tube company wrote Martin demanding that the committee be informed Ohio Seamless Tube had not shipped to Japan since March, 1939.

Justice Department's Martin replied: "I think it entirely appropriate to call your letter to the attention of the Kilgore Committee, which I shall be glad to do."

He pointed out also that the Department of Justice had had no knowledge of any shipment by Ohio Seamless as late as March, 1939, since the Mitsubishi letter had been written a month earlier.

"In fact," Martin wrote, "I had had no previous indication that, in fact, your company did make shipments of materials after the Secretary of State's moral embargo of June 13, 1938."

In other words, Ohio Seamless Tube was shipping to Japan nine months after the embargo.

The Justice Department also listed as among those willing to continue shipments to Japan after the moral embargo the Thompson Products Company, whose president, Fred C. Crawford, is former president of the Nation Association of Manufacturers.

Crawford's company, according to the Mitsubishi agency, was willing to ship valve forgings to Japan on condition that the order sheet listed only style numbers, with other details of the transaction to be handled by confidential memos.

This was the policy followed by Bethlehem Steel and other companies, the Japan agent wrote, explaining that these companies were afraid not of federal interference with their shipments of war materials to Japan but of difficulties with their workers. The CIO and AFL were already on record against shipments to Japan, he wrote, and industrialists were afraid of labor trouble if their workers learned the destination of the products they were turning out.

KILLED IN FALL

Crystal Falls—Andrew Wilks, 65, Dunn location, was instantly killed Friday afternoon while removing brick from a pillar in the basement of the former engine house on the Dunn mine property near his home. His body was found about three o'clock by a neighbor, Emil Sankela. The upper story of the building had been dismantled some time ago. The floor and basement walls were left intact. It is believed Wilks had removed too many of the brick in the pillars supporting the floor, with the result that a part of the floor 12 by 4 feet collapsed and caught him. Dr. H. J. Larson, coroner decided, decided death was accidental and that an inquest was not necessary.

Common Sense Among Publishers

A Philadelphia novelist, Struthers Burt, has contributed a piece to a national magazine lambasting the publishers of America for short-sightedness. He thinks they are fiddling while the world is burning and he can hardly find words strong enough to denounce them.

Here is his story: Although he was hard at work on a book of his own that absorbed all his energies he yielded to what he describes as the call of duty to collaborate with a Polish cartoonist who, with the backing of a group of equally patriotic (and apparently equally fanatical) New York citizens, was making the picture for a proposed book that would adequately describe the crimes of the Germans. He gave of his time generously for weeks and months to write the captions for the pictures—all purely out of a sense of duty, without taking thought of his own interests.

But at last the long, hard labor was ended, the agony of creation gave way to the feeling of a task well done. He and his collaborator had done a book that would show once and for all that "Hun" was far too complimentary a word for anything that was German. According to his story (I have of course not seen the book because it has not been published) they went back a couple of thousand years and showed how the German race had always been the enemy of mankind. They carried it through to 1944, all the pictures and captions tending to show that merely exterminating such a race, root and branch, was less than the Good government requires practical men with executive ability and a strong sense of public responsibility. Michigan has found the right combination in the group of men who, under the leadership of Governor Kelly, will administer our State government during the next two years.

Your Republican administration has increased Government efficiency, brought the State through precarious war years in good shape, and has carefully planned for post-war employment, veteran re-employment, care of the dependent aged and children and a multitude of other immediate problems.

Good government has always been hard to get. Now that we, in Michigan, have it, let's keep it!

He has been in service 2 1/2 years and was stationed at Camp Wood, Texas and at Camp Robinson, Arkansas before going to Camp Blanding. His wife, who has been with him at the various army camps, is now making her home with her mother, Mrs. August Olsson, of Gladstone.

Pte. LeRoy E. Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wery, Chemical plant location at Wells, in a V-mail letter to the Press states that he is in France and that the country around there is "in fairly good condition." Baker, who is attached to the coast artillery, says he is well and happy, but he is looking forward to the time when he can come home.

Strickland Gillilan, nationally famous humorist, has been booked to appear on the 1944-45 Town Hall series, which this year will include some of the finest musical and lecture attractions.

Past president of the American Press Huromists, Gillilan is a well known writer of humorous stories and verse. He composed the popular line: "Off agin, on agin, gone agin, Finagin."

CURTAIL COAST GUARD ACTIVITY

Activity of the United States Coast Guard in Escanaba as a port security measure is being curtailed, it was announced yesterday by the Ninth Naval District office, Cleveland, in a telegram to the Escanaba Daily Press.

"Curtilment of Coast Guard activities at Escanaba is in line with similar action being taken elsewhere on the Great Lakes due to favorable progress of the war, and urgent need of men for other areas," it was announced.

The curtilment affects the Coast Guard Temporary Reserve, composed of local men, as well as the regular port detail of the Coast Guard. The Temporary Reserve unit will continue on an unassigned basis.

The announcement was made following the opening Sunday of a shore road between Escanaba and Wells, which passes through the ore dock area. Previously only restricted travel was permitted on the road between the two communities.

The area through which the road passes has been guarded as a defense area since late fall of 1942.

In one week in the final stage of the advance of the British 8th army in North Africa, three million gallons of gasoline and 8,000 tons of ammunition were delivered at the front.

BOWEL CLEANING POWER OF ERB-HELP MEDICINE

One man recently took ERB-HELP three days and said afterward that he never would have believed his body contained so much filthy substance. He says his stomach, intestines, bowels and whole system were so thoroughly cleansed that his constant headaches came to an end, several pimply skin eruptions on his face dried up overnight, and even the rheumatic pains in his knee disappeared. At present he is an altogether different man, feeling fine in every way.

ERB-HELP contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering! Get ERB-HELP. Sold by all Drug Stores here in Escanaba.

DEWEY PLEDGE TO LABOR

GOVERNOR THOMAS E. DEWEY, Republican Presidential nominee, minced no words when declaring his position on labor in an address at Seattle, Washington, Sept. 18. Governor Dewey intends to bring the U. S. Department of Labor back to the status for which it was created—to administer the affairs of labor.

"Governor Dewey pledges himself to abolish the many multiple agencies set up by the New Deal to pass on labor-management relations, but functioning more to retard than expedite labor problems. The Republican candidate for the Presidency of the United States, has promised the American people that he will select as Secretary of Labor, a man from the ranks of Labor.

"Among the things which have been holding us back here at home is an Administration Labor Policy which has bred class division, hate and insecurity. I can say without qualification that the labor policy of this administration has been one of delays, bungling and incompetence. It has put untold obstacles in the way of labor's effort to avoid wartime strikes. It has fostered strife between one labor group and another, between labor and business and between both and government."

—THOMAS E. DEWEY

Address at Seattle, Wash., September 18, 1944.

Worry Clinic

With Case Records Of
A Psychologist

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE D-270: Morris J., aged 27, is in a very dejected state of mind.

"I've been rejected by the Army," he said miserably. "After I had my hopes all built up and had urged my friends to write to me at camp, the Army doctor turned me down."

"Dr. Crane, what can I say to my friends? It is very embarrassing. I feel humiliated."

"For a week now I've hung around the house, afraid to go out on the street lest some of my friends see me, and start kidding me."

"The longer I stay in the house, though, the harder it will be for me to face them. What would you suggest?"

DIAGNOSIS: Morris must console himself by remembering that millions of other good men have been rejected for medical reasons.

Some of them had blood pressure a little above normal. This high blood pressure has often been due to simple nervous tension and a psychological complex.

As the stuffer has the muscles of his throat affected by a complex, so, too, have many men and women as regards the tiny circular muscles surrounding the blood vessels.

When these folks become nervous, their muscles go into spasm, and the blood vessels then tighten down to a smaller diameter. This forces the heart temporarily to raise the blood pressure.

In 1918, moreover, 200,000 men were discharged from the military services even AFTER they had been accepted for service. Do you know why?

Because they developed neuroses and other emotional complexes, or couldn't adjust mentally to army life!

Caesar Would Be Rejected.
One of the three greatest military leaders in all history, namely, Julius Caesar, would be rejected today by our army if he wished to enlist in the American forces, for Caesar is reported to have suffered from epilepsy.

Hannibal, another of these great military geniuses, would probably be rejected as a psychoneurotic and I doubt if Alexander the Great could have passed muster.

Army psychiatrists probably would have screened out Napoleon Bonaparte, too, and Joan of Arc was apparently psychotic.

You rejectees must remember, too, that you will often far outlive the army doctors who rejected you on physical grounds.

John D. Rockefeller, Senior, was told that he wouldn't live much longer when he was slightly past the age of 50, but he lived almost to see the century mark, and saw that doctor buried almost two score years earlier.

Horse Sense In Medicine

One of our western Congressmen recently criticized General Hershey's perennial attempt to scare housewives and mothers with his recurring threat to draft fathers, by saying that he saw plenty of 4-F young men playing violent athletic games, such as football, so he couldn't figure out why such athletes couldn't handle a machine gun or other type of army equipment, and leave the fathers at home with their families.

A great many of you readers also wonder why more horse sense and less nonsense hasn't been introduced into Washington, D. C. "A helluva handicap a punctured eardrum would be to a soldier in the thunderous noise of the front lines!" a rejectee recently exclaimed, and then went back to his job as a professional baseball player.

You rejectees stick to your jobs, in war plants and remember King David's rule that the men who faithfully stay by the staff are just as valuable as those on the firing line!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3c stamped, addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing or printing costs when you seek personal advice or one of his psychological charts.)

Fried ice cream became a reality at the Chicago World's Fair in the Gay Nineties; dipped into this batter, it was doused in hot fat that cooked the batter before the cream melted.

Parish Reception

Church Events

Christian Science Churches "Probation After Death" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, October 22.

The Golden Text (John 5:25) is: "The hour is coming, and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God; and they that hear shall live."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Romans 6:8): "Now if we be dead with Christ, we believe that we shall also live with him."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (42): "Death will be found at length to be a mortal dream, which comes in darkness and disappears with the light."

Parish Reception

A reception for Rev. Karl J. Hammar, pastor of the Central Methodist church, and his family, will be held this evening, beginning at 8 o'clock, in the church parlors. The reception is sponsored by the parish and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Travelogue At School Saturday

Russell Wright, commentator on world events and cameraman, presents his documentary motion picture, "Swedish Interlude," at the Escanaba Junior high school auditorium at 8:15 p. m. October 21.

This most amazing motion picture production, filmed in natural color, presents the story of life in Sweden, including events after World War II commenced. In his narration, Mr. Wright will tell how that nation is struggling to maintain itself in the face of great odds. The picture is the last to be brought out through the blockade since the beginning of the war.

Photographer Wright has traveled the length and breadth of Sweden to study and photograph the various phases of intimate

Swedish life. His picture has not only been pronounced a masterpiece but the greatest film ever to be made in Scandinavia. It took three years to gather the vast amount of material incorporated in this lecture presentation. A small fortune was spent in the venture. Mr. Wright, who has been covering world events as a correspondent cameraman for over thirteen years, produced the film himself.

Among the outstanding features presented in "Swedish Interlude" are the Arctic Iron Mountain and Norway's Narvik, just before its destruction and occupation by the Nazis. Other highlights are Sweden's launching of national defense preparations, rationing and many important personalities. The presentation is two hours in length. Everyone is urged to see this outstanding documentary film.

C. G. RESERVE IS UNASSIGNED

Auxiliary In Area Will Be Expanded; Plan Course Of Study

Members of the U. S. Coast Guard Temporary Reserve here and in Escanaba have been given unassigned status, it was learned this week. This came simultaneously with the discontinuance of the guard and inspection posts at the ore docks in Escanaba.

While members are not active at present and have no assigned duty, Commander Clarence Royer points out that the Gladstone unit of the reserve has not been disbanded and its members are subject to duty call at any time.

The Coast Guard Auxiliary will function here and will be expanded.

Today is the last day for Gladstone residents to register for the general election in November and the office of City Clerk H. J. Hendrickson at the city hall will be open from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. for this purpose.

Up to the present slightly over 150 new registrations have been made at the city hall. This is a particularly large number of new registrations and more are anticipated today.

Requests for absentee ballots are also heavy although not as heavy as was earlier believed would result.

Yesterday the total was 237 of which 162 were ballots for servicemen and 75 for civilians.

Report Cards Out Today; System Of Marking Changed

The first six weeks of work or the first term of the first semester was completed last Friday and report cards will go out today to parents of students of the Gladstone public school system.

The second term ends on Nov. 24 and cards will be issued on Nov. 29 while the semester ends Jan. 12 and cards will be issued Jan. 17. The first term of the second semester ends Feb. 23 with cards out Feb. 28, the second term on April 13 with cards issued on April 18 while the year's work will close on May 25 and cards will be out June 1.

There also will be exams and graduation week exercises before the close of school.

The honor roll at Gladstone high school this year will include all B students. However, there will be a special honor roll on which just all-A students will be listed.

While the letter system will be continued in marking cards in the high school there will be no pluses or minuses. A denotes superior work, B is good, C is average, D below average or unsatisfactory and E failure.

The letter system continues in the grades as before and pluses and minuses are still being used.

County Potato Show Will Be Held Today

The first annual Schoolcraft county potato show, sponsored by the Potato Boosters association, will be held today at the old gymnasium, climaxed with a banquet this evening in the new gymnasium, at which D. C. McLeod, of Valley City, N. D., agricultural agent of the Soo Line railroad will be the principal speaker.

A total of approximately $450 will be distributed in prizes to Schoolcraft county potato growers at the show today. Prizes will be awarded in the following divisions: Class I tablestock, 40 lb. sample U. S. No. 1; Class II certified seed, 60 pound sample, (128 potatoes); Class III open class, (22 selected tubers); and Class IV 4-H club work, 32 selected tubers. In addition there the grand awards for the Schoolcraft county potato booster association growers' contest, open to all farmers growing two acres or more of potatoes. This contest is divided into two sections, certified seed growers and tablestock growers. Class V is a grading contest designed to encourage growers to become more familiar with the various grades of potatoes.

1,000 Acres of Spuds

In the growers contests, points will be awarded on the basis of total acreage of all varieties grown on any one farm but only one entry for each farm unit is allowed. Points are awarded in these contests for following approved crop practices, for effective disease and insect control and for grade and yield. First prize in each of the two divisions of the growers contests will be $50, with $35 for second prize, $25 for third, $15 for fourth and $5 for the next three prizes.

Joseph Heiman, county agricultural agent, reported yesterday that there is about 1,000 acres of potatoes being harvested in Schoolcraft county this year with the best yields in many years. It is expected that there will be six or seven certified seed growers exhibition in the show, approximately 20 tablestock growers and 15 4-H club members. Most of the potatoes to be exhibited are white russets and russet russets.

The banquet tickets have been selling briskly, indicating a large attendance at the potato show banquet this evening in the new gymnasium. The public is invited to attend the banquet and tickets may be secured from any of the members of the potato boosters association. Toastmaster will be Omer Schuster, a director of the association. The banquet is scheduled for 7:30 o'clock and will begin promptly at this hour. DRIVE BEGINS ON WAR FUND

Goal Of $9,542 Is Set For Schoolcraft Residents

The campaign to raise $9,542 for the United War Fund in Schoolcraft county was formally launched Monday, Oct. 16 and headquarters have been established in the city hall of Manistique, Chairman George Nicholson has announced.

The following chairman have been appointed for the campaign special advance gifts. Elmer T. Lundstrom; business and general solicitation, Ira Crawford; industrial, Emory Barnes; Manistique township, Paschal Jewett; Doyle township, W. W. Davidson; Mueller township, William Lennyson; Germfasky township, Mrs. Lawrence. Seney, Bert Furst; Inwood, Leonard Carley; Hiawatha, Agner Dehlin. Each of the chairman has obtained precinct solicitors for the campaign which will extend to Nov. 1, or until the quota has been reached.

The budget has been adopted by the committee and the proceeds of the fund will be distributed upon the following basis:

Statement From Chairman

Michigan United War Fund, embracing 20 agencies, including the USO, $4,042; Manistique Youth Council $2,500; Boy Scouts $1,500; Girl Scouts $1,500.

Mr. Nicholson issued the following statement yesterday:

"You were told last year that there would be one drive for all relief purposes approved by the War Relief Control Board, with the exception of the Red Cross. We kept our word.

"It is now time for another drive, one that our military leaders tell us is of strategic importance at this crucial hour. How much is our country's share? How much should you give? We'll let you answer that. Schoolcraft county has 1,274 boys in uniform. They are away from home—in camps, in deserts, in jungles, in hospitals. Some are in prison camps. Most of them get pretty sick for good old Schoolcraft sick."

"Let's figure it out. Let's take one boy, the one you know best. Would you spend $1 per month to bring him some measure of enjoyment and encouragement such as the USO provides? Or if he is in a prison camp to help him through the War Prisoners Aid, keep mind, body and soul from collapsing—or 3c a day? Will you do that much for one boy? Many folks, of course, who are in the larger income brackets will give many times that much. They know some families here at home who have two, three and four boys in service—some of whom will never return. The sacrifices of these boys can never be met by these relatively small gifts of time and money."

Mrs. Russell Middaugh, Mrs. Isaac Frans, and Mrs. John Nesman have returned from Houghton and Hancock where they visited with relatives and friends.

Mrs. Chester Dixon has received a letter from her brother, Pvt. Dewane C. Osterhout who is stationed in France. It was dated October 2. Parts of the letter are as follows:

"We are supposed to get three bronze stars to go on our E. T. O. ribbon. One star for the Battle of the Beach Head, one for St. Lo, and one for the Battle of France.

"Gee, remember when I wrote and told you that we knocked down a German plane? Well, that night the plane dropped about five bombs within a couple hundred yards of us and hit a truck company and killed fifteen negro truck drivers. Then we nailed the plane. The bombs threw dirt all over us and the guns and trucks had ammunition in them. Shells were sinking by our heads all night. There sure was a big fire there and heat from it, too. The next day there were bodies and parts of bodies all over the place."

Pvt. Osterhout is in the anti-aircraft artillery. He has been in the service since 1943 and has been overseas since March 1944. He is the son of Mrs. Lenia Osterhout of Dearborn and James Osterhout of Eckman, Mich. One brother, Sgt. Harold M. Osterhout, is stationed in India.

Uncle Sam To Play Big Part In Picking Pasadena Rose Bowl Team

ARMED FORCES CLAIM GRIDMEN

California Squads Lose Valuable Players In Next Two Weeks

Los Angeles, Oct. 17 (AP)—The Western representative for the New Year's football game in Pasadena's Rose Bowl may be largely decided within two weeks, and Uncle Sam may be the deciding factor.

Three of the four contenders—UCLA, California and Southern California—are going to lose valuable players to the armed forces. The other, the University of Washington, also will be affected, but not until after it plays the Trojans here next Monday night and California the following Saturday at Berkeley.

Coach Pest Welch's Huskies, if they won those two games, would appear to be a shoo-in for the Rose Bowl nomination. The Welchmen have won their games by overwhelming scores but the opposition hasn't been first grade. The team has only two performers from that which got a terrific pasting last New Year's at the hands of USC.

Uncle Sam is going to raid the California teams two weeks hence. California, with a perfect slate, is to lose nine performers, five of them regulars—Hachten, Adigan and Higgins in the line and Muir and Quist in the backfield. They play their last game against Washington.

Right after the Washington game, too, Southern California loses Gordon, Gray, a standout back; Crittenden, a guard, and Romer, a tackle. Gray scored the

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

This is the season of lean pickings for the sports columnist, with football the only major sport occupying the limelight. It's too early to think of winter sports, and too late for baseball, although the weather thus far this football season has been more favorable for the sandlot pastime. Speaking of records, which appears to be good fodder, Michigan is practically eliminated from Big Ten championship opportunities. The title hopes of the Wolverines are heading for the basement like a runaway elevator following the announcement that they will face the last three games of the season without Capt. Bob Weis and Halfback Bob Nussbaumer, the team's two leading ground gainers.

While Michigan has not had a Big Ten title since 1933, she has not done too badly in football history. Since 1896 the Wolverines

Trojans' only touchdowns against California and St. Mary's. Pre-Flight and has scored five of the seven USC touchdowns.

UCLA will say goodbye to its ace halfback, Johnny Roesch, and to Fullback Jerry Shipkey. End Hank Sheller and Tackle Chuck Vannatta. Roesch has tallied seven of the Bruins' 10 touchdowns and has been the best climax runner of the coast season.

Washington will also be hard hit, losing 11 players after the California game, including Keith DeCourcy, starting fullback and the nation's second leading scorer to naval officers training school.

ESKYMOS HAVE PLENTY SPIRIT

Undaunted By Defeat, Lads Keep Striving For Improvement

Whether the Eskymos are heading for another defeat next Saturday at the hands of Iron Mountain is a matter for the dopsters to figure out. If the Mountaineers, who to date have had a good season, succeed in trimming Escanaba history will be made, for it will be the first time a local high school team has been defeated more than four times in a season. Escanaba may not have the best team in its history, but there is no denying that the lads have spirit. Working with green and inexperienced material, Coach George Ruwitch is putting on the pressure and the boys are responding nobly.

Win or lose, the boys cannot be accused of failure to try, and in the event of a close contest this spirit may be a deciding factor.

Coach Ruwitch is devoting this week's practice to tightening the defense along with more emphasis on blocking. There are no casualties in the lineup and the team will go into Saturday's game at maximum strength.

Losing Pony Bets Swell Lettuce Roll Of 'Woman In Red'

Salem, N. H., Oct. 17 (AP)—A mysterious "woman in red" has plucked $25,000 to win $2,500 in show bets within a few days at Rockingham Park horse race track.

And newspapermen, who have seen her or her agent cash winning tickets, say that's only the half of it.

They've observed her cashing handfuls of tickets, not only at "the rock" but at other New England tracks.

One widely known turf authority says she has yet to lose a bet either at Rockingham here or Narragansett in Rhode Island.

And her system, the newsman adds, is to stick to favorites to show.

Last Saturday she created a minus pool when she wagered $15,000 that way in the feature race. The money was on Johnny Junior.

The big bet resulted in a loss of $2,315.54 to the track on the one event, but the woman picked up $1,500 winnings and departed.

It happened again Monday. This time she put $10,000 for third on Side Arm, the 30 to 100 favorite in the feature, Laconia purse.

The tracks wouldn't release an estimate of her gains but admitted they were "very aware" of her activities.

And the woman—well she keeps her identity and her winnings to herself, though sometimes she is represented by a male companion.

Most of the time, however, she cashes the winnings stubs herself.

BRAVES PLAY AT ISHPERING

Undeclared Gladstone Eleven Prepares For Hard Battle

Gladstone, Mich. — Gladstone high school's undefeated and untied football eleven will travel to Ishpeming Saturday to engage the Hematites on their home field.

The Braves came through the Newberry game last weekend without injury and barring injuries in practice should be in good physical condition when they meet Ishpeming.

Kallman's ankle is responding to treatment and he is expected to be in shape to go the full game this Saturday.

Comparative scores indicate the two teams about on a par. Ishpeming took the measure of Negaunee by a 13-7 count while Gladstone won from the Graverats 12-0.

It will be the last game for Ishpeming and this will make the going just that much tougher as the Braves realize.

The Braves will wind up at home, playing Stephenson on Oct. 28 and Escanaba on Nov. 4.

Muller's 70 Yard Pass Made East Conscious Of Western Grid Prowess

BY RED GRANGE

The Original Man-in-Motion

When Brick Muller threw his famous 70-yard pass to Brodie Stephens on the one-yard line in the California-Ole Miss game in the Rose Bowl Jan. 1, 1921, officials accepted it as the record.

The longest completed pass in the history of the college game, they called it.

It was that, in more ways than one. For instance, the pass sailed all the way into the elite east, crashed through the cloistered windows of the sanctum of Walter Camp's All-American team, which until then smugly ignored western football, and made Brick Muller the first man west of the Rockies to crash the coveted eleven.

Today, Dr. Harold P. Muller, eminent physician, deprecates the toss that lifted him to football immortality. He prefers to be remembered as a pretty good all-around end. He was that, and more. Brick was a good enough broad and high jumper to make the Olympian team in 1920, could run like a hare and was a mighty good baseball and basketball player.

It was in throwing a football, however, that Muller stood in a class by himself.

Tossed 80 In Practice

Prior to the game, Muller then 19, 6-2, 188, lank and limber sophomore with long arms, red hair and hands that resembled bunches of bananas, gave an exhibition of ball tossing. Standing on his 20-yard line, he repeatedly hit receivers on the goal line 80 yards distant.

On the play preceding Muller's sensational pass in the second quarter of the 28-0 rout of Ohio State, Archie Nesbit, California fullback, tried a plunge through the line. The Golden Bears lined up hurriedly. Nesbit at center and George Latham, regular center, taking Muller's place at end, Brick going into the backfield.

Nesbit snapped the ball to halfback Pecky Sprott, who ran to his right, shoveled the ball back to Muller. Retreating and reversing to his left, Brick drew back and sent the ball sailing like a small dirigible diagonally to Left End Brodie Stephens on the one yard line. Brodie stepped over for the score.

At first the crowd couldn't believe its eyes. Pete Stinchcomb, playing safety, thought Stephens was merely a decoy, he was so far away and ignored him. He couldn't believe anybody could throw a ball that far. There wasn't an Ohio State man within of Reverend Father LaMothe.

The walls and ceiling are finished in panel design of tiled new-wood in pastel shades with ivory trim. A four-foot plywood wainscoting in natural color is accented by a darker trim molding. New Stations of the Cross have been donated by Reverend Dion's mother, Mrs. A. Dion, of Great Falls, Rhode Island.

Service movie theaters at posts and camps in the United States are estimated to have an annual attendance of over 150,000,000.

CHICAGO GRAIN Chicago, Oct. 17 (AP)—Light offerings to persistent demand for rice caused a sharp upward surge in the grain futures market today. Wheat and feed grains followed rice, which secured a 3 cent advance at the close of the session.

The December contract in rice was at its highest point since July 22 of this year when it sold at $1.12. Some stop loss orders were uncovered during today's advance, and shorts covered freely.

Traders held that the increased use of rice will be made by distillers of alcohol in the near future.

The Roving Reporter

bursts that shower 'death' from above.

Our artillery has really been sensational. For once we have enough of something and at the right time. Officers tell me they actually have more guns than they know what to do with.

All the guns in any one sector can be centered to shoot at one spot. And when we lay the whole business on a German hill the whole slope seems to erupt. It becomes an unbelievable cauldron of fire and smoke and dirt. Veteran German soldiers say they have never been through anything like it.

Now to the infantry—the God-damned infantry, as they like to call themselves.

I love the infantry because they are the underdogs. They are the mud-rain-frost-and-wind boys. They have no comforts, and they actually have more guns than they know what to do with.

All the guns in any one sector can be centered to shoot at one spot. And when we lay the whole business on a German hill the whole slope seems to erupt. It becomes an unbelievable cauldron of fire and smoke and dirt. Veteran German soldiers say they have never been through anything like it.

A narrow path comes like a ribbon over a hill miles away, down a long slope, across a creek up a slope and over another hill.

All along the length of this ribbon there is now a thin line of men. For four days and nights they have fought hard, eaten little, washed none, and slept hardly at all. Their nights have been violent with attack, fright, butchery, and their days sleepless and miserable with the crash of artillery.

The men are walking. They are fifty feet apart, for dispersal. Their walk is slow, for they are dead weary, as you can tell even when looking at them from behind. Every line and sag of their bodies speaks their inhuman exhaustion.

On their shoulders and backs they carry heavy steel tripods, machine-gun barrels, leaden boxes of ammunition. Their feet seem to sink into the ground from the overload they are bearing.

They don't slouch. It is the terrible deliberation of each step that spells out their appalling tiredness. Their faces are black and unshaven. They are young men, but the grime and whiskers and exhaustion makes them look middle-aged.

In their eyes as they pass is not hatred, not excitement, not despair, not the tonic of their victory—there is just the simple expression of being here though they had been here doing this forever, and nothing else.

The line moves on, but it never ends. All afternoon men keep coming round the hill, and vanishing eventually over the horizon. It is one long tired line of anti-like men.

There is an agony in your heart and you almost feel ashamed to look at them. They are just guys from Broadway and Main Street, but you wouldn't remember them. They are too far away now. They are too tired. Their world can never be known to you, but if you could see them just once, just for an instant, you would know that no matter how hard people work back home they are not keeping pace with these infantrymen in Tunisia.

When buying cotton, be sure they're pre-shrunk fabric. This will save later alterations, permit better tailoring because it is unnecessary to make large seams, and save money because no extra fabric must be bought to allow for shrinkage.

In Memoriam
In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Cadet Richard Paul Menard, who was killed in a plane crash one year ago today, October 15, 1943.

Oh, how sudden was the call,
Of one so loved by all.
A bitter loss, a shock severe,
To part with one so dear.
We often sit and think of you,
And speak of how you died.
You could not even say good-bye
Before you closed your eyes.
For all of us, grant you eternal rest.
Oh God, grant you eternal rest.

Sadly missed by
HIS PARENTS,
SISTER AND BROTHERS.
9499-252-11

In loving memory of our husband, father and grandfather, Charles Robert, who passed away one year ago today, October 15, 1943.

Gone from our home, oh, how we miss him!
Loving him deeply, his memory we'll keep;
Nor 'till life ends shall we forget him.
Sacred is the place where he is asleep.

Sadly missed by
HIS WIFE, CHILDREN AND GRANDCHILDREN.

ESCANABA BANK BUSINESS DROPS

Checks drawn by Escanaba depositors against their bank accounts in September totaled $275,000 less than during the same month last year, it is shown in the September summary of bank debits released by the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis.

The total for September 1943 was $4,826,000 while the figure for September of this year was $4,551,000.

Despite the decrease, however, Escanaba's bank business was third high for the Upper Peninsula, exceeded only by Marquette with $6,100,000 and Iron Mountain with $4,777,000.

Bank debit figures represent dollar volume of checks drawn by depositors against their bank accounts to pay for goods, services, debts, etc. For a locality, bank debits are considered a good indicator of the volume of business transacted for they reflect the amount spent by farmers, businesses and government as well as the amount spent by consumers in the general retail trade channels.

In the Upper Peninsula September debits were three per cent below September 1943 while for this year, January through September, a seven per cent increase over the like 1943 period is indicated.

Communication

IN DISAGREEMENT

Dear Editor:

Your splendid newspaper, of October 17, carried a communication which the writer has given the title "In Agreement." In this communication he refers to an editorial which your paper carried a few days ago. We have generally agreed with the editorial policy of the Escanaba Daily Press, but on this particular matter, we are inclined to disagree. We do not disagree with the whole editorial, but we do disagree with parts of it. However, this communication does not intend to deal with your editorial, but we wish to point out to the writer of "In Agreement" that he is taking too much for granted.

In his article he says "all" sportsmen will appreciate the editorial which opposes the increase of hunting fishing licenses. Well, all sportsmen will not appreciate this opposition to increased fees. If the writer had attended the sportsmen's meeting the other evening, he would not be so cock-sure that "all" sportsmen oppose higher license fees. Sportsmen are willing to pay their own way, and the consensus of that meeting was, that if more money was needed, the sportsmen would be willing to pay.

Sportsmen are demanding more and better fishing. In order to provide better fishing the Department of Conservation must have more money. Approximately eight hundred thousand fishing licenses were sold last year. If an additional twenty-five cents were added to the fishing license, the net increase would be about two hundred thousand dollars. No real sportsman is going to complain of an additional quarter added to his license fee. And especially is this true if more rearing ponds and hatchery facilities are provided.

It is true that most of us cannot now, because of transportation difficulties, participate in hunting and fishing as we once were free to do. That is no reason for curtailment of the conservation program. We should if anything plant more fish, when there is a limited opportunity to take the fish planted. This would insure a better supply when the war is over and the boys come marching home. These men and women of our armed services will want to hunt and fish. Let's see to it that the fishing and hunting are there, when they get back, even though it does cost us a dollar or two more a year.

Piles — Get Relief Now

Millions of sufferers in the last 40 years have found a way to get quick relief from the itching and smarting of piles. They use a delightful cooling, soothing and astringent formula — Peterson's Ointment. No wonder one sufferer writes, "The itching and smarting were relieved, and I slept all night. Peterson's Ointment is marvelous." 25c a box, all drugists, 60c in tube with applicator. Money back if not delighted.

I might sign this, "a preacher," but never having tried to hide behind my profession I sign my name,
